ВСЕРОССИЙСКАЯ ТУРИСТСКАЯ ПРЕМИЯ МАРШРУТ ГОДА

Togliatti today

Togliatti is the city of young and ambitious people, the city where the wildest dreams came true. The skyline of the city combines the natural beauty of wildlife and man-made monuments. Three districts of the city, like three souls of Stavropol-Togliatti, store historical and cultural heritage and diversity.

Togliatti is the best place for outdoor activities, eco and industrial tourism. Everyone visiting Togliatti for the first time may feel a unique energy of the city. Have a walk through the green alleys and cozy embankments, enjoy the beauty of Zhiguli Mountains and the Volga river or get involved into the night life of a vibrant modern city – it's up to you how to spend time in Togliatti.

At any time of the year, Togliatti offers a great choice of colorful and memorable events, which are awarded as the best in Russia in the field of event tourism. Major international and regional festivals, extreme competitions, sled dog races, various exhibitions and forums will not leave anyone indifferent.

We welcome you to take part in the best events in our country, exploring the New city of Russia!

Geographical location

Togliatti is located in one of the most picturesque areas of Russia, about 1000 km away from Moscow, the capital of the country. It is the second city in Samara region by size and significance, and is one of the largest industrial centers of the Volga region. Togliatti is known for its unique environmental conditions. The city is surrounded by the Zhiguli Mountains, the Volga region plains and the great Russian river Volga. There is the National park Samarskaya Luka and the Zhiguli reserve area named after I.I. Sprygin in the area near Togliatti. These places are rich with rare wild species of flora and fauna. The diversity of terrain and rock formations, various animal and vegetal life make Zhiguli comparable to the nature reserves of Crimea and Caucasus.

Population

Togliatti is the biggest city in Russia that is not an administrative center of the region. It ranks No.18 in the country population size rating. According to the latest population census, over 719,000 residents live in the city today. Togliatti is one of few cities in the Samara region that shows a natural population growth. At the same time, the city remains to be one of the youngest in Russia. During the Soviet period, the average age of inhabitants was under the age of 30. These days, it is about 39 years. The national structure of Togliatti is varied; more than 120 nationalities live together. The majority are the Russians. Other nationalities include Tartars, Ukrainians, Mordovians, and Chuvash's.

Transport and logistics infrastructure

In the 1960-1970, in the course of planning and building of the city, the most up-to-date solutions in the sphere of transport and logistics infrastructure planning were applied. As a result, Togliatti does not have the problems that the big cities are facing, i.e. high transport intensity and traffic jams. The city has a convenient economic and geographical location; that is why Togliatti became a significant road junction of the Volga region after the construction of the HP station dam in Zhigulevsk. The distance from Togliatti to Samara is 88 km, to Moscow – 985 km, to Saint-Petersburg – 1702 km. Federal highway M5 goes through the city connecting Moscow, Togliatti, Samara, Ufa and Chelyabinsk. The international airport of Kurumoch, one of the regional leaders in passenger traffic, is 60 km away from the city. In 2014, a new passenger terminal was commissioned.

Industry of Togliatti

Today's Togliatti is one of the largest industrial and economic centers of the Volga region, taking a leading position in the rankings in terms of foreign trade turnover among the cities of Russia. It provides almost half of the total production of the Samara region, while the level of industrial goods per capita is more than three times of the average in Russia.

The leading sector in the economy of the city is the automotive production industry. Historically, AVTOVAZ was the city's main employer, which is why a large number of enterprises in the production of automotive components are concentrated here. Today, Togliatti bears the title of the automotive capital of Russia for a good reason. Togliatti has a reasonably diversified economy and a large number of companies in various fields.

Education

The municipal education system operates successfully in Togliatti, being represented by more than 250 institutions of different types and legal forms realizing the programs of preschool, general and supplementary education. The city's high-quality and diverse educational services are available thanks to highly-skilled teachers of Togliatti schools, lyceums, and gymnasiums. It is not a coincidence that five Togliatti's schools were ranked in the Top-500 Russian schools list.

Culture

There are many institutes of culture and education, including theatres, museums, libraries, a philharmonic society, creative unions of writers, painters, designers, and ethno-cultural and linguistic centers in Togliatti. Togliatti has modern concert stages. Classical and pop music, jazz, rock-n-roll, ethnic compositions sound in concert halls. Moreover, famous musicians, bands, orchestras, dance groups regularly visit the city with performances.

Stele «Obelisk of Glory»

According to the land-use plan of Stavropol (the former name of the city of Togliatti), after relocating the town from the flood zone, the Pushkin Square and Pushkin Boulevard were planned in the centre of the city. However, in April of 1957 young builders proposed to erect a monument to the freedom-fighters in the centre of the square and at their own expense. They raised the sum of 30.000 Rubles by collecting waste paper and scrap metal. The monument was designed by Mikhail Sorokin, the main architect of the city. The unveiling of the memorial took place on 26th October 1958. The name of the monument "To the Fighters for Freedom" is also used for the surrounding area. The adjacent avenue is named Youth Boulevard. On 3rd November 1978, the Eternal Flame was lit at the memorial, delivered by an armoured personnel carrier from the flame at the Obelisk of Glory in Samara. After this ceremony, the monument in Togliatti also came to be referred as the Obelisk of Glory.

The inscription on the stele says « Together forever».

Monument «The Mourning Angel»

The angels' posture embodies mourning over the innocently perished people; there is a symbolic book of memory in the angel's hands. The monument has a great importance to the city: hundreds of thousands of convicts were involved in the construction of the Kuibyshev HPS, and over 20% of them were political detainees.

Monument to Vasily Tatishchev

He took part in military campaigns, ran state-owned plants. Under his management such cities as Yekaterinburg, Perm, Chelyabinsk, and Orenburg were established. The monument is built in a shape of a Petrine miniature fortress – stone-brick walls with protruding polygonal towers. The statue was cast in Poland and Belarus, with some of the most complex elements cast in the Czech Republic.

Chapel of Nativity and the Monument of St. Nicholas the Wonderworker

The Chapel was constructed in honor of 2000th anniversary of the Nativity of Christ and in honor to people who built Togliatti. The Chapel is built in the best traditions of Old Russian architecture. An epigraph states: "The monument is a token of gratitude to creators of the city".

Monument of Devotion

The Monument of Devotion is one of the most extraordinary memorials of Togliatti with a tragic story. The monument is erected in honour of Togliatti citizens' faithful four-footed friend patiently waiting for its owners. In 1995, a dog sitting at the roadside attracted citizens' attention – it was always sitting at the same place near Yuzhnoe shosse. Not far away from that place, a car accident occurred. According to the official story, there were a dog and its owners – a young couple – in one of the cars. Only the dog was saved by a miracle. No one knew its name therefore it was named "the Faithful" or "Konstantin". People built a kennel for the dog and tried sheltering it but no one's attempt crowned their efforts. The dog always came back and patiently waited for its owners. It did not matter whether it was snowing or raining, in any weather and any season, the dog stayed at same place. In 2002 the dog died. The unveiling of the bronze monument was held on 1st June 2003 – the 266th anniversary of the city of Togliatti.
